LAS VEGAS - James Carey of "On the House" with the Carey Brothers announced on his live radio show in Las Vegas recently that the Evictor Strobe Light has solved a roof rat problem he had in his attic for 20 years.

Michael DeGinto, president of Evictor Products, Inc., manufacturer of the Evictor Strobe Light, says that the bad housing market has actually increased demand for the product. "A lot of homes are now vacant and roof rats are moving in. Homeowners are using the Strobe Lights to evict the roof rats — then leaving the lights turned on so the rats won't come back."
